

Rhyl High School students help beat bullying.

Four members of the Year 11 Student Leadership Team and 'Anti Bullying Champions' were invited to lead training at The Children's Commissioner for Wales Student Ambassador Conference.

This saw pupils work with Sally Holland and her team to lead workshops on beating cyber bullying and promoting the rights of the child, with our students delivering to staff and pupils from schools across North Wales.

The Children's Commissioner and her team were full of compliments about the work of our pupils and our school's approach to tackling issues around bullying. We had the opportunity to share ideas and best practice with pupils from other schools, with our Y11 SLT bringing back further ideas to help support pupils in our community as we promote and respect the rights of every child.

A big well done to all involved!
